Top 10 Easy Ways to Order Food in Train Online – Best Apps & Services Compared

Traveling by train is fun, but ordering meals online can sometimes turn into a hassle if you're not careful. Many passengers make avoidable mistakes that lead to late delivery, wrong orders, or unhygienic meals. In this guide, we'll share the Top 7 Mistakes to Avoid When Ordering Food in Train Online, so you can enjoy fresh food on train without stress.

1. Using Trusted Apps Like RailRestro

Many passengers try random apps or local vendors, risking delayed or unhygienic meals. RailRestro is one of India's most trusted platforms for food on train, with:

- Coverage of 450+ stations and 7000+ trains
- 2500+ FSSAI-approved restaurants
- Options for vegetarian, non-vegetarian, Satvik, and Jain meals

Tip: Always use RailRestro to ensure timely delivery and quality meals.

2. Entering Wrong PNR or Train Details

One of the biggest mistakes is entering an incorrect PNR number or train details. This can result in:

- Food delivered to the wrong coach/seat
- Order cancellation or delay

Tip: Double-check your PNR and train number before confirming your order. RailRestro allows easy PNR verification for hassle-free delivery.

3. Ignoring Delivery Timing

Many passengers order food last minute, expecting immediate delivery. This can backfire if the train is running late or the station is small.

Tip: Pre-order your food in train in advance. RailRestro provides estimated delivery times for each station.

4. Skipping Hygiene Checks

Ordering from unknown vendors may lead to unhygienic meals. Always ensure your food is safe.

Tip: RailRestro partners with certified restaurants and ensures hygienic packing. Check ratings and reviews before ordering.

5. Not Checking Menu Availability at Your Station

Some items may not be available at certain stations. Ordering without checking availability can lead to disappointment.

Tip: Browse RailRestro's menu for your boarding station to see the available dishes and avoid last-minute cancellations.

6. Forgetting Payment Options

Some passengers assume cash is not accepted or online payment is compulsory, causing confusion during ordering.

Tip: RailRestro offers multiple payment methods including Cash on Delivery*, UPI, and cards. Always check payment options before placing your order.*

7. Not Tracking Your Order

Many passengers place the order and then wait without updates, risking missed delivery.

Tip: Use RailRestro's live tracking feature to know exactly when your food on train will arrive at your seat. This ensures you never miss a meal.

Bonus Tips for a Smooth Meal Experience

- Prefer packaged thalis for complete meals.
- For long journeys, pre-order dinner and breakfast to avoid delays.
- Share honest reviews to help other passengers and improve service quality.

Conclusion

Ordering food in train online is convenient, but avoiding these common mistakes ensures a smooth, hygienic, and tasty experience. RailRestro is the most reliable platform for order food on train, offering fresh meals, wide variety, and easy delivery to your seat.
